PREFACE

This report has been prepared by the Public Lands Foundation to document the organizational history of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management and the line office managers who have headed the principal offices of the agency. Since the roots of the Bureau of Land Management are in the Grazing Service, the General Land Office and the O&C Revested Lands Administration, this record includes the offices and managers of those agencies as well.

This report began as a project undertaken by the Public Lands Foundation to help the Bureau of Land Management celebrate its 50th Anniversary on July 16, 1996. On that date the PLF presented BLM with a "Historical Record of Bureau of Land Management Office Managers 1946 - 1996" that included the names and dates of tenure of BLM's State Directors and District Managers. This Historical Record was prepared in recognition and remembrance of the leaders who have guided the agency in its mission to protect and manage the public lands of the United States.

At the annual PLF Conference in Denver in September 1996, the members present decided that the Historical Record should be expanded to include managers of Resource Area Offices, Land Offices, Service Centers, and other special offices of the Bureau.

In addition to listing the offices and office managers, this report also includes a history of the organizational changes that have occurred in the BLM, beginning with the Regional and Area Organizations, and later with the State Offices and the Districts, Resource Areas and now Field Offices.

This listing of office managers includes nearly 1300 names of the line managers who headed the offices of the BLM, Grazing Service, General Land Office and O&C Administration during the 1934 - 1998 period. However, the listing does not include the names of many other BLM leaders whose contributions were made in Associate, Assistant and Staff positions in the Washington Office, State Office and District Offices during this same period.

The report has been prepared by Glendon E. and Marion Collins with the following persons being the principal contributors of information from each state.

INTRODUCTION

The Public Lands Foundation has prepared this report to provide an historical record of the principal field offices of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) since the establishment of the agency in 1946, and the names, titles and dates of tenure of the managers who have headed these offices.

This record includes the Washington Headquarters Office, State Offices, District Offices, Resource Area Offices, Field Offices, Land Offices, Service Center Offices, Outer Continental Shelf Offices, and some special purpose offices of the Bureau of Land Management; and the managers who have headed these offices.

The listings of offices includes both existing offices and former offices that have been redesignated and/or closed by reorganizations. Offices that are listed in bold type currently exist in 1998. Offices that have been closed or redesignated as a result of reorganizations are listed in non-bold type.

For offices that originated in the Grazing Service and O&C Revested Lands Administration, the names of the pre-1946 District Graziers and District Foresters are included where the information is available.

The listings of State Directors in the individual States also includes the State Supervisors who held the State Office positions during the 1954 - 1961 Area Office organization. The listing of District Managers includes the District Range Managers and District Foresters who held these positions prior to about 1958.

To help explain the BLM organization and the changes that have been made in position titles and office locations, this historical record also describes the major organizational changes which the BLM has made in the field offices over the past 50 years. Brief historical information about the formation of many of the individual offices is also included.

This historical record begins with background information on the organizations and managers of the three agencies, the Grazing Service, the General Land Office and the O&C Revested Lands Administration, which were merged in 1946 to form the BLM. The BLM's field office organization has evolved out of the organizational structure which the BLM inherited from these three agencies, and many of the leaders of the Bureau during its early decades came from these three predecessor agencies.

GRAZING SERVICE 1934 - 1946

Grazing Service was established as the Division of Grazing in the Department of the Interior in 1934, to implement the Taylor Grazing Act's provisions for authorizing livestock grazing on the public domain lands in 10 western states. It was renamed the Grazing Service in 1939, but continued to operate as part of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior until July 11, 1944, when it was established as an operating Bureau of the Department. In 1941, the Grazing Service headquarters was moved from Washington, DC to Salt Lake City, Utah, a temporary arrangement during World War II.

GRAZING SERVICE DIRECTORS

Ferrington R. Carpenter	1934 - 1938
Richard H. Rutledge	1938 - 1944
Clarence Forsling	1944 - 1946

Grazing Service Director Carpenter's original intention was to administer the Grazing Service's program with 20 federal employees who would guide local Advisory Boards composed of livestock operators in setting up the Grazing Districts, allocating grazing livestock numbers and issuing grazing permits.

These first 20 employees were Depue Falck, John Deeds, Archie D. Ryan, G. M. Kerr, J. Q. Peterson, Joe Leech, Marvin Klemme, E. R. (Tiny) Greenslet, Robert E. Morgan, Albion D. (Bud) Molohan, Charles F. (Frank) Moore, C. F. (Bud) Dierking, Milo Deming, Perry T. Williams, Warren R. Scholes, Luster R. Brooks, Ed Keefe, E. H. Frenzell, Gaylor G. Frazier, and Albert Shunk.

Beginning in 1935, 10 Regional Grazing Offices were established in the western states. These Regional Grazing Offices were staffed with the 20 men listed above who were appointed to positions of Regional Graziers and Graziers Aides. Their job was to organize Grazing Districts and District Advisory Boards composed of livestock operators, and to assist these Advisory Boards in authorizing livestock grazing on the large areas of public domain lands within the established Grazing Districts.

The following is a list of the Regional Grazing Offices, their locations and the Regional Graziers, taken primarily from 1936 - 1941 editions of "The Grazing Bulletin", a quarterly publication of the Grazing Service, and from 1939 - 1942 editions of "The Range Rider", a weekly and later monthly publication of the Grazing Service.

Harold J. Burback	1937 - 1941
Milton W. Reid	1942 - 1946

Under the direction of these Regional Offices, a total of 60 Grazing Districts were established during the 1935 - 1946 period in the Rocky Mountain and Great Basin areas of the western States. The 60 Grazing Districts were located in Arizona (4), California (2), Colorado (8), Idaho (5), Montana (6), New Mexico (7), Nevada (5), Oregon (7), Utah (11), and Wyoming (5), and included a total of about 142,000,000 acres of public lands.

Originally each Grazing District was identified by a number assigned by the Grazing Service. In 1940, names recommended by the livestock operators were assigned to each Grazing District. Each Grazing District covered a specific geographic area that typically included several millions of acres of public domain lands in large blocks.

In some states, large acreages of public lands were not included in Grazing Districts because they either had low potential for livestock grazing, i. e. the public lands in Alaska and in the forested or hot desert areas of the other western states, or because the public land tracts were too scattered for effective federal control of livestock grazing. Livestock grazing on these public lands outside of Grazing Districts was authorized by "Section 15" grazing leases issued under the authority of Section 15 of the Taylor Grazing Act.

By 1936, it was apparent that more employees were needed to administer the program at the local level, and to help with the expanding Civilian Conservation Corps (C.C.C.) program that was constructing range improvements on the public lands. Beginning in about 1937, the Grazing Service began opening District Offices with a District Grazier in many of the Grazing Districts. Each Grazing District also had an Advisory Board, composed primarily of range users, which played a major role in forming the Grazing Districts, adjudicating the range use, and issuing the first grazing authorizations.

After the BLM was established in 1946, most of these Grazing District Offices became BLM District offices which continued to administer the "Grazing Districts" that had been established by the Grazing Service. During the 1950's and 1960's the role and responsibilities of the BLM Districts were expanded to multiple use management of all of the public land resources on all of the public lands in the District, not just range management on the lands inside the "established grazing districts". These changes, along with the declining role and eventual dissolution of the Grazing Advisory Boards, gradually brought an end to the dominating role that range management played in the early history of the BLM.

Since the Grazing Service and its leaders and offices were the foundation for the BLM offices and managers in most of the western States, the record of the Grazing Service offices and office heads are included in this Historical Record.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE 1812 - 1946

Congress created the General Land Office (GLO) in 1812 to oversee the disposition of the public domain lands through a network of local or District Land Offices. The GLO established Land Districts in the midwestern, southern and western States; opened the public lands to settlement; authorized the opening of Land Offices; and authorized the appointment of Registers and Receivers, who were the officials who kept the public land records, and received and processed land applications and fees.

In addition to its land records and land disposal functions, the GLO also administered the cadastral survey program which prepared the land surveys that were needed for land disposals. In 1938, the GLO was also assigned the responsibility for the Oregon and California Revested Lands forestry program in western Oregon.

A total of 35 Commissioners of the General Land Office served during the 134 year life of the agency. The last Commissioner, Fred Johnson who served from 1933 to 1946, also served two years as the first Director of the Bureau of Land Management.

Land Offices

Between 1812 and 1946, Land Offices were established in nearly 400 cities and towns in 31 midwestern, southern and western States to carry out the program of disposing of the public domain lands. A list of the Land Offices and their opening and closing dates is included as Appendix 1 to this report.

Land Offices would be opened as settlers moved into new areas of public land, and would be closed after most of the public lands had been transferred to private ownership. The Land Records from the closed Land Office would be consolidated with those of other Land Offices, usually within the same State. The Land Records for the western States are maintained in the BLM State Offices. The Land Records for the midwestern and eastern States are maintained in the BLM's Eastern States Office in Springfield, Virginia.

By 1948, after the General Land Office had been merged into the BLM, the number of Land Offices had been reduced to 20 offices in the following locations:

Alaska	Anchorage, Fairbanks and Nome
Arizona	Phoenix
California	Sacramento and Los Angeles
Colorado	Denver and Pueblo
Idaho	Boise
Montana	Billings and Great Falls
Nevada	Carson City
New Mexico	Santa Fe and Las Cruces
Oregon	Portland
Utah	Salt Lake City
Washington	Spokane
Wyoming	Cheyenne, Buffalo and Evanston

By 1950, each state had only one Land Office except for California (Sacramento and Los Angeles) and Alaska (Anchorage and Fairbanks).

In 1965, the Land Office Manager positions were merged with the Lands and Minerals Division Chiefs in each BLM State Office to create a position of Chief, Division of Lands and Minerals Program Management and Land Office. In 1971, the Land Offices were eliminated as separate offices, and the Land Office functions were absorbed by various State Office and District Office staffs.

O&C REVESTED LANDS ADMINISTRATION

The Oregon and California (O&C) Revested Lands Sustained Yield Management Act of 1937 required intensive management of the timbered public lands in western Oregon. In 1938, the O&C Revested Lands Administration was established for this purpose and assigned to the General Land Office.

The General Land Office appointed Walter Horning as Chief Forester of the O&C Revested Lands Administration who served in this capacity from 1938 - 1946. In the late 1930's and early 1940's, five O&C District Forestry Offices, each headed by a District Forester, were established in Coos Bay, Eugene, Medford, Roseburg, and Salem, Oregon to manage these "O&C Lands".

These District Forestry Offices later became BLM District Forestry Offices when the General Land Office with its O&C Revested Lands Administration was merged into the BLM in 1946. The names of these pre-1946 O&C Administration District Foresters are included in the lists of the BLM Managers contained in this report. In 1947, Chief Forester Walter Horning was appointed as the first Regional Director of Region I in BLM's new Regional organization.

MERGER OF THE GRAZING SERVICE, THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE AND THE O&C REVESTED LANDS ADMINISTRATION TO FORM THE BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT IN 1946

On July 16, 1946, Congress established the Bureau of Land Management by the merger of two existing agencies, the Grazing Service and the General Land Office with its O&C Revested Lands Administration unit.

At the time of the merger, the General Land Office's field organization consisted of District Land Offices in the 12 western states, District Forestry Offices in Oregon, and the cadastral survey program. The field organization of the Grazing Service consisted of Regional and District Grazing Offices in Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona.

After the merger, the Regional Grazing Offices were eliminated. The District Grazing and Forestry Offices were absorbed into the new BLM organization, and most continued to operate for over 50 years as the principal offices for the on-the-ground management activities of the BLM.

The District Land Offices continued to operate as separate offices until they were merged with the new BLM State Offices in the early 1950's. By the early 1970's, the Land Offices and the Land Office Managers had been phased out and the land office functions had been reassigned to State Office and District Office staffs.

BLM'S ORGANIZATIONS AND REORGANIZATIONS

During the BLM's first 50 years, the agency has been managed by a series of Directors stationed at the Bureau's Headquarters Office in Washington, DC.

The listings of State Directors in the individual States also includes the State Supervisors who held the State Office position during the 1954 - 1961 period.

DISTRICT OFFICE - RESOURCE AREA OFFICE - FIELD OFFICE ORGANIZATIONS 1938 - PRESENT

District Offices

The District Office has been the "on-the-ground" land management office since the Grazing and Forestry District Offices of the Grazing Service and O&C Administration were created back in the late 1930's. In 1946, the BLM absorbed these offices and, during the first decade of the new Bureau, the District Grazing and Forestry Offices continued their primary grazing and forestry functions. District Office managers were titled District Range Managers or District Foresters.

During the 1950's, BLM created additional District Grazing Offices to manage grazing on the "Section 15" lands outside the organized Grazing Districts, and several additional Forestry Districts were created to manage public domain forest areas in California, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and Alaska.

In about 1958, the BLM began delegating a broader and more responsible role to the District Offices. District Grazing Offices and District Forestry Offices were redesignated as District Offices and the managers' titles were changed to District Manager. By the 1970's, the responsibilities of the District Managers were expanded to include the lands and minerals programs and most other land management responsibilities.

Resource Area Offices

In 1955, the BLM in Idaho began the practice of subdividing Districts into subordinate organizational units that were later named Resource Areas. Each Resource Area was responsible for land management of a specific geographic area within a District. Each Resource Area Office was headed by a Resource Area Manager who reported to the District Manager. The Resource Area concept was initiated in the Burley District and was expanded to the other Idaho Districts by the early 1960's. By 1965, the Resource Area concept was adopted officially by the Bureau and was implemented in Districts in the other States.

Field Offices

In 1996, the BLM began phasing out the two-tiered District Office - Resource Area Office organization, and replacing these Offices with Field Offices that report directly to the State Offices. The result of this reorganization in most States is that the Resource Area Offices that were co-located with the District Offices have been abolished; and the District Offices and the detached Resource Area Offices have both been redesignated as Field Offices. In several States, small offices in rural locations remain open as Field Stations reporting to Field Offices.

On October 1, 1998, the only exceptions to the State Office - Field Office organizations are:

- Oregon/Washington where the District Office - Resource Area Office organization still exists.
- Colorado where the District Office - Resource Area Office organization still exists and the Resource Area Office in Alamosa is merged with the Forest Service Office on a trial basis.
- Idaho where the Field Offices report to three District Offices in Boise, Idaho Falls and Coeur d'Alene.
- California where the Field Offices in the California Desert District still report to the California Desert District Office.

In this way BLM continues to maintain offices in each location, but most offices are now designated as Field Offices headed by Field Office Managers, or Field Managers, who report directly to the State Director.

The following summarizes the principal offices in the BLM's field organization on October 1, 1998:

Alaska: Alaska State Office in Anchorage;

- Field Offices in Anchorage, Fairbanks and Glennallen;
- Field Stations in Juneau, Tok, Nome and Kotzebue.

PUBLIC LANDS AND FIELD OFFICE LOCATIONS

Because of limited surface management responsibilities in the eastern U.S., public lands cannot be shown at the scale of this map. Management for the Eastern States is the responsibility of the BLM Eastern States Office located in Springfield, Virginia. Field offices that report to the Eastern States Office are located in Jackson, Mississippi, and Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

BLM's MERGER WITH THE MINERALS MANAGEMENT SERVICE

In January 1982, the Secretary of the Interior realigned the mineral leasing responsibilities of the BLM and the leasable mineral management responsibilities of the U. S. Geological Survey (USGS). The BLM's Outer Continental Shelf mineral leasing responsibilities and its Outer Continental Shelf Offices in New Orleans, Los Angeles, Anchorage and New York City were combined with the USGS's Conservation Division to form a new Interior agency, the Minerals Management Service (MMS).

In December 1982, the Secretary transferred the on-shore mineral management functions of the Minerals Management Service to the BLM, leaving MMS responsible for royalty management and offshore mineral leasing. As a result of this merger:

- BLM assumed major new responsibilities for mineral resource evaluation, approval of drilling permits and mining and production plans on mineral leases, and inspection and enforcement of mineral leasing on federal and Indian lands;
- 800 MMS employees (who a year earlier had been USGS employees) were transferred to the BLM;
- Three new BLM District Offices were opened in Jackson, Mississippi; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and Tulsa, Oklahoma;
- Two new Resource Area Offices were created from MMS Offices in Great Falls, MT and Pocatello, ID, and a BLM Project Office in Oklahoma City was redesignated as the Oklahoma Resource Area Office;
- MMS managers were reassigned to the BLM State Director position in Wyoming, and to District Manager positions in two BLM District Offices at Roswell, NM and Grand Junction, CO.

The Jackson, Mississippi Office had been a MMS office that absorbed the BLM's staff from the Tuscaloosa, Alabama Project Office and became a BLM District Office reporting to the Eastern States Office. The Milwaukee Office was a new office that combined the staff from the BLM's Lakes States Office in Duluth, Minnesota with staff from a MMS Indianapolis, Indiana Office to form a new BLM Milwaukee District Office reporting to the Eastern States Office. The Tulsa Office was a long established USGS/MMS office that was redesignated as a BLM Tulsa District Office reporting to the New Mexico State Office.

The Great Falls Resource Area Office was a former USGS, later MMS, office that was redesignated as the Great Falls Resource Area Office in the Lewistown District. The Pocatello Resource Area Office was established in the Idaho Falls District by moving the existing BLM Soda Springs Resource Area staff out of Soda Springs and into an existing MMS office in Pocatello. The Oklahoma Resource Area Office had been a Project Office reporting to the Albuquerque District Manager before being reassigned to the new Tulsa District Office.

Alaska Field Office Organization

The Taylor Grazing Act which produced the Grazing Service did not apply to public lands in Alaska, so, unlike the other western states, there were no Grazing Service District Offices in Alaska to serve as locations for new BLM Districts.

Beginning in 1946, the BLM administered the public lands in Alaska through the Land Offices, a Regional Office, and later an Area Office. In the early 1950's, the BLM established field offices in Juneau, Anchorage and Fairbanks that were variously known as Operations Offices and Districts. The Anchorage and Fairbanks District Offices were created in 1962. In the mid-1960's, several Resource Area Offices were created in the Anchorage and Fairbanks Districts.

In a 1986 reorganization, all of the Resource Areas in the Anchorage District were phased out, except for the Glennallen Resource Area which was elevated to District Office status.

In Fairbanks, the Fairbanks District was abolished in 1987, and was replaced by each of its three Resource Areas, the Arctic RA, Kobuk RA, and Steese-White Mountain RA, being elevated to District Office status and named the Arctic District, the Kobuk District and the Steese-White Mountain District. In 1995, these three Districts were recombined into one District that was named the Northern District.

In 1998, the Anchorage, Northern, and Glennallen District Offices were renamed the Anchorage Field Office, the Northern Field Office and the Glennallen Field Office.

Field Station offices are also maintained in Tok, Nome, Kotzebue and Juneau. The Tok, Nome and Kotzebue offices are primarily public contact stations in remote areas of the State.

The Juneau office was opened in 1996, when the Bureau of Mines office in Juneau was closed and its staff was reassigned to the BLM. This new Juneau Field Station Office and, its Alaska minerals assessment function, reports to the BLM's Alaska State Office.

ANCHORAGE OFFICE

Anchorage has been the location of various BLM Regional, Area, State, Land, and Operations Offices since 1946, but the Anchorage District Office was not established until about 1962.

Five Resource Areas were established in the Anchorage District in 1965, but the Resource Area organization was eliminated in 1986.

In 1998, the Anchorage District Office was redesignated as the Anchorage Field Office.

FAIRBANKS OFFICE

Since 1946, Fairbanks has been the location of a BLM Land Office and various fire and operations offices, but the Fairbanks District Office was not established until about 1962.

Resource Areas were established in the Fairbanks District in the mid-1960's. When the Resource Area organization was abolished in Alaska in 1986, the Fairbanks District was eliminated, and its three Resource Areas became three District Offices, the Arctic District, the Kobuk District, and the Steese - White Mountain District, all located in Fairbanks.

For many years the Fairbanks District has maintained small Field Stations in Tok, Nome and Kotzebue serving mainly as public contact offices in these remote areas.

In 1995, the Arctic District, the Kobuk District and the Steese - White Mountain District were recombined into one District that was renamed the Northern District.

In 1998, the Northern District Office was redesignated the Northern Field Office.

ALASKA FIRE SERVICE

The first fire center in Alaska was the Alaskan Fire Control Service (AFCS) established by Congress in 1939, to direct the suppression of wild fires in the Territory of Alaska. In 1946, the AFCS became the Division of Forestry in the new BLM Region VII Office, and later the Area Fire Control Office in the BLM Area 4 Office. In 1962, the fire control responsibilities were redelegated to the new Anchorage and Fairbanks District Offices. In 1982, fire control was reassigned to an Alaska Fire Service Office that was established at Fairbanks.

LAND OFFICES IN ALASKA

The first Land Office in Alaska was opened in Sitka in 1885. By 1900, other Land Offices had been opened in Nulato, Weare, Peavy, Rampart City and Circle, but these offices, along with the Sitka Land Office, were consolidated into the Juneau Land Office which was established in 1902. The Juneau Land Office continued to serve southern Alaska from 1902 until it was closed and moved to become the Anchorage Land Office in 1923.

In 1907, the Fairbanks and Nome Land Offices were opened to serve northern and western Alaska. The Nome Land Office operated until the late 1940's. In 1958, the BLM reopened the Juneau Land Office which operated briefly until 1961, when it was again closed and combined with the Anchorage Land Office.

In 1963, the Anchorage Land Office was combined with the BLM's Alaska State Office and the Fairbanks Land Office was combined with the BLM's Fairbanks District Office.

Arizona Field Office Organization

Four of the Arizona Field Offices began as Grazing Service District Offices in the 1930's. These Grazing Service District Offices were:

District No. 1, the Hurricane District on the Arizona Strip, with office in St. George, Utah.

District No. 2, the Kingman District with office in Kingman, Arizona.

District No. 3, the Maricopa District with office in Phoenix, Arizona.

District No. 4, the Safford District with office in Safford, Arizona.

Each of these Grazing Service Offices became BLM District Offices in 1946, and the Phoenix and Safford offices and the Arizona Strip office in St George, Utah have operated continuously since that time. The Kingman District Office was closed in 1953, and reopened in 1966 as a Resource Area Office reporting to the Phoenix District Office.

The Yuma office was established in 1961, as the Department of the Interior's Lower Colorado River Land Use Office reporting to the Office of the Secretary of the Interior. It was reassigned to the BLM in 1967, to become the Yuma District Office.

In 1965, Resource Area Offices were established in each of the Arizona Strip, Phoenix, Safford and Yuma Districts.

In the 1996 reorganization, the four District Offices and their Resource Area Offices were eliminated. The Arizona Strip, Phoenix, Safford and Yuma District Offices were redesignated as Field Offices, and the Kingman, Tucson and Havasu Resource Area Offices were elevated to Field Office status reporting to the BLM's Arizona State Office.

ARIZONA STRIP OFFICE St. George, Utah

The Arizona Strip Office originated as a Grazing Service District Office to administer Arizona Grazing District No. 1, the Hurricane District on the Arizona Strip. The Office was located in St. George, Utah because most of the livestock operators lived in Utah, and there were no towns of any size on the Arizona Strip. The Office became a BLM District Office in 1946.

Two Resource Areas were established in the Arizona Strip District in 1965. They operated until 1996, when the District - Resource Area organization was eliminated and the Office was redesignated as the Arizona Strip Field Office.

PHOENIX OFFICE

Phoenix was the location of the Grazing Service's Region 9 Office that was established in 1937 to administer grazing in Arizona. Arizona Grazing District No. 3, the Maricopa Grazing District, was administered out of the Phoenix Office. The Office became a BLM District in 1946. In 1953 after the closure of the Kingman District Office, the Phoenix District Office also took over the administration of Arizona Grazing District No. 2, the Kingman Grazing District.

In 1965, three Resource Areas were established in the Phoenix District: the Phoenix RA, the Lower Gila RA, and the Kingman RA. A Tucson Resource Area Office was added in 1992, and reassigned to the Safford District in 1994. The Phoenix and Lower Gila Resource Area Offices were merged with the Phoenix District Office in the 1996 reorganization when the Phoenix Office was redesignated as the Phoenix Field Office.

YUMA OFFICE

The Yuma Office was established in 1961 as the Department of the Interior's Lower Colorado River Land Use Office reporting to the Office of the Secretary of the Interior. It had a twofold mission: to resolve residential and commercial occupancy trespass problems on the Reclamation withdrawn lands along both the Arizona and California banks of the lower Colorado River, and to prepare a recreation land use plan for these lands.

In 1967, the Office was reassigned to the BLM and became the BLM's Yuma District Office. Its area of jurisdiction continued to be the Reclamation withdrawn lands along the River in both California and Arizona, but was expanded to include public lands in Yuma and Maricopa Counties that were reassigned to the Yuma District from the Phoenix District.

In 1976, two Resource Areas, the Yuma RA and the Lake Havasu RA, were established in the Yuma District. In the 1996 reorganization, the Yuma Resource Area Office was merged with the Yuma District Office to become the Yuma Field Office. The Lake Havasu Resource Area Office became the Lake Havasu Field Office.

California Field Office Organization

The Bakersfield and Susanville District offices had their origins in Grazing District Offices established by the Grazing Service in the mid-1930's. Grazing District No. 1, the Mohave District, had its office in Bishop that was later moved to Bakersfield in 1954 to become the BLM's Bakersfield District Office. Grazing District No. 2, the Honey Lake District, had its office in Susanville, and later became the BLM's Susanville District.

In the 1950's, the BLM established Forestry Districts in Redding (1951), Sacramento (1954) and Ukiah (1958) to manage the public land forest and rangeland resources in those areas.

In 1961, the Southern California desert and coastal areas in San Bernardino, Riverside, Imperial and San Diego Counties were split off from the Bakersfield District and placed in a new District that was established at Riverside. This new District was combined with the Land Office that was moved out of Los Angeles to form the Riverside District and Land Office. In 1972, it was renamed the Riverside District when the Land Office functions were moved and consolidated with the Sacramento Land Office. In 1980, the Riverside District was renamed the California Desert District.

In about 1965, several Resource Areas were established in each of the Susanville, Bakersfield, Redding, Sacramento, Ukiah and Riverside Districts.

In 1966, the Sacramento District was relocated to Folsom, and renamed the Folsom District.

In 1980 and 1982 reorganizations, the Folsom and Redding Districts were eliminated. The Folsom and Redding Offices remained open as Resource Area Offices, with the Folsom Resource Area Office reporting to the Bakersfield District Office and the Redding Resource Area Office reporting to the Ukiah District Office.

In a 1996 reorganization, the Ukiah and Susanville District Offices were eliminated. However, the six Resource Area Offices in those two Districts - the Alturas RA, Surprise RA, Arcata RA, Clear Lake RA, Redding RA, and Eagle Lake RA - continued in operation as the Northern California (NORCAL) Management Team reporting to the BLM's California State Office.

In a 1998 reorganization, the Alturas, Surprise, Arcata, Clear Lake, Redding and Eagle Lake Resource Area Offices were redesignated as Field Offices reporting to the State Director. The Field Office Managers continue to meet periodically as the NORCAL Management Team to discuss land management and administrative issues.

Also in 1998, the Bakersfield District Office organization was realigned. The Bakersfield District Office became the Bakersfield Field Office; the Caliente Resource Area was eliminated; and the Folsom, Bishop and Hollister Resource Area Offices were redesignated as Field Offices, which, along with the Bakersfield Field Office, report directly to the BLM's California State Office.

The California Desert District has continued to operate as a District Office to administer the California Desert Management Plan. The District's five Resource Areas continue to report to the District Office in Riverside, but they have been redesignated as Field Offices.

BAKERSFIELD OFFICE

On November 1, 1934, Grazing Service Director Ferrington R. Carpenter chaired a meeting of stockmen in Bakersfield to establish the Mojave Grazing District. The District was established as "Mojave District No. 2" Sometime earlier, a Bodie Hills District had been established as Grazing District No. 1. However, on April 6, 1935, the two Districts were combined by Departmental Order into the Mojave District No. 1, with headquarters in Bishop, California. The office became the BLM's Bishop District in 1946. The District Office headquarters was moved to Bakersfield in 1954.

The Bishop, Little Lake, and Bakersfield Resource Area Offices were established in the Bakersfield District in 1965.

In 1970, the Bishop RA and the Little Lake RA were combined to become the Bishop/Little Lake RA, and in 1972, the Resource Area Office headquarters was moved from Bakersfield to Bishop to become the Bishop RA.

In 1974, the Inyokern RA was created out of the Bakersfield RA, and the remainder of the Bakersfield RA was renamed the Caliente RA.

In 1976, the Inyokern Resource Area Office was moved to Ridgecrest and renamed the Ridgecrest RA. In 1980, the Ridgecrest RA was reassigned from the Bakersfield District to the California Desert District.

In 1980, the Folsom and Hollister Resource Areas were added to the Bakersfield District, when the Folsom District was abolished.

In 1998, the Caliente Resource Area was abolished, and the Bakersfield, Bishop, Folsom and Hollister Offices each became Field Offices reporting directly to the BLM's California State Director.

SUSANVILLE OFFICE

The Susanville office has its origin in the Grazing Service District Grazing Office established in 1939, to administer California Grazing District No. 2, the Honey Lake Grazing District.

During World War II, the Susanville Office also took over the administration of over a million acres in the western portion of Nevada Grazing District No. 2, the Pyramid District. Most of the livestock operators lived closer to Susanville than Winnemucca, Nevada, and, because of gas rationing, they were allowed to conduct their Grazing Service business with the Susanville Office. This arrangement was continued after the Susanville Office became a BLM District Office in 1946, and the Eagle Lake Field Office in Susanville and the Surprise Field Office in Cedarville, California still manage large areas of public lands in northwestern Nevada.

In the mid-1960's, three Resource Area Offices were established in the Susanville District; the Pit River RA, the Surprise RA, and the Eagle Lake RA.

The Surprise Resource Area became a detached Resource Area in 1974 when the Resource Area Office was moved from Susanville to Cedarville. The Pit River RA was renamed the Alturas RA in about 1979, when the Resource Area Office was moved from Susanville to Alturas.

In the 1996 reorganization, the Susanville District Office was eliminated, and the Eagle Lake Resource Area Office remained the only BLM office in Susanville. The Eagle Lake Resource Area Office, the Alturas Resource Area Office in Alturas, and the Surprise Resource Area Office in Cedarville became part of the Northern California (NORCAL) Management Team of Resource Area Offices reporting to the BLM California State Office.

In 1998, the three Resource Areas became the Eagle Lake Field Office, the Alturas Field Office and the Surprise Field Office.

The Redding Resource Area was added to the Ukiah District when the Redding District was merged with the Ukiah District in 1982.

In the 1996 reorganization, the Ukiah District Office was eliminated, and the Clear Lake, Arcata and Redding Resource Area Offices became part of the Northern California (NORCAL) Management Team of Resource Area Offices reporting to the BLM California State Office. REDDING OFFICE

The Redding Office was established by BLM as a District Forestry Office in 1951. Three Resource Areas - the North RA, Central RA and South RA - were created in the Redding District in the mid-1960's. In about 1970, the North, Central and South Resource Areas were renamed Siskyou, Four Rivers and Ishi Resource Areas, respectively.

In 1982, the Redding District Office and the Siskyou, Four Rivers, and Ishi Resource Area Offices were abolished. The Redding office remained open as the Redding Resource Area Office reporting to the Ukiah District Office.

In the 1996 reorganization, the Redding Resource Area Office became part of the Northern California (NORCAL) Management Team of Resource Area Offices reporting to the BLM California State Office.

In the 1998 reorganization, the Redding Resource Area was redesignated as the Redding Field Office reporting to the BLM's California State Office.

LAND OFFICES IN CALIFORNIA

A total of 17 Land Offices were established in California, but the three major Land Offices were at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento.

Los Angeles Land Office was opened in 1854 and the San Francisco and Sacramento Land Offices in 1857. Colorado District Office Organization

The four existing Colorado BLM District Offices had their origins in the eight Grazing Service Grazing Districts that were established in the late 1930's. The eight Grazing Districts were:

District No. 1, the Meeker District, with office in Meeker was combined into BLM's Craig District in 1954.

District No. 2, the Summit District, with office in Meeker, then Craig, then Denver, then Glenwood Springs, and was finally divided and combined into the BLM's Grand Junction, Craig and Canon City Districts in 1973.

District No. 3, the Ouray District, with office at Montrose and became a part of BLM's Montrose District.

District No. 4, the Dolores District, with office in Montrose, then Durango, and finally combined into the BLM's Montrose District in 1966.

District No. 5, the Royal Gorge District, with office in Canon City became a part of BLM's Canon City District.

District No. 6, the Yampa District, with office in Meeker and then included in BLM's Craig District in 1947.

District No. 7, the Rifle District, with office in Grand Junction and became a part of BLM's Grand Junction District.

District No. 8, the San Luis District, established in 1941 by split of Ouray District, with office in Alamosa, and subsequently combined with the BLM's Canon City District.

When the BLM was established in 1946, there were Grazing Service District Offices in Grand Junction, Montrose, Meeker, Durango, Craig and Canon City. BLM added a Denver District Office in 1947.

In 1954, the Meeker District was merged into the Craig District.

In a 1966 reorganization, the Denver District Office was closed and moved to Glenwood Springs; and the Durango District was consolidated with the Montrose District. At about the same time, several Resource Areas were created within each of the five Districts.

In 1973, the Glenwood Springs District was abolished and the its lands were divided up and reassigned to the Canon City, Craig and Grand Junction Districts.

The Meeker, Durango and Glenwood Springs Offices have remained open as Resource Area Offices reporting to the Craig, Montrose, and Grand Junction District Offices.

CANON CITY OFFICE

The BLM created the Canon City District in 1947, to manage the Grazing Service's Colorado Grazing Districts Nos. 5 and 8, the Royal Gorge and San Luis Grazing Districts. The Canon City District also includes a portion of the original Summit Grazing District, Colorado Grazing District No. 2, which in 1947 had been in the BLM's Denver District, was moved to the Glenwood Springs District for the 1966 to 1973 period, before being merged into the Canon City District in 1973.

Former Resource Area in the Canon City District
Northeast RA Golden, CO
San Luis RA Alamosa CO

In 1966, the Canon City District created two Resource Areas: the Royal Gorge RA and the San Luis RA with offices in Canon City. Within a year, the San Luis Resource Area Office was relocated to Alamosa. In a 1973 reorganization, the Northeast Resource Area was added to the Canon City District from the Glenwood Springs District which had been eliminated.

The Northeast Resource Area Office was located in the Denver Area from 1966 to 1992. It was part of the Glenwood Springs District from 1966 to 1973, and part of the Canon City District from 1973 to 1992. It was based first in Golden, later in Wheatridge, and finally in the Denver Service Center, before being eliminated in 1992, and merged into the Royal Gorge Resource Area.

In 1995, the Canon City District began a pilot project with the U. S. Forest Service to share offices and operations. In Canon City the BLM and the Forest Service share an office. In Alamosa, the San Luis Resource Area Office and two National Forest Ranger District Offices ceased to exist as separate BLM and Forest Service Offices. The BLM and the Forest Service have merged their offices, personnel, equipment and land management operations on a trial basis to manage BLM and National Forest Lands in the San Luis Valley area of south central Colorado.

The BLM administered public lands in the San Luis Resource Area and the adjacent National Forest lands of the Rio Grande National Forest, were combined into three new land management units that were established in the western, northern and southern portions of the San Luis Valley.

The former BLM San Luis Resource Area Manager currently (1998) manages the western unit, and two Forest Service District Rangers manage the northern and southern units.

In 1965, the Craig District established three Resource Areas: the North, Middle and South Resource Areas which in about 1968 were renamed the Little Snake, Yampa and White River Resource Areas.

The 1973 District reorganization in Colorado realigned the Craig District into three different Resource Areas: the Little Snake RA, the White River RA, and the Kremmling RA. The Kremmling RA was created on lands added to the Craig District from the Glenwood Springs District. These actions resulted in the elimination of the Yampa RA in the Craig District and the Middle Park RA and North Park RA from the former Glenwood Springs District.

The Eastern States Office (ESO) was established in 1954 to manage the BLM's responsibilities for the scattered parcels and blocks of public lands in the states east of the Mississippi River. The Eastern States Land Office, which consisted of the public land records and activities from the former Land Offices in the midwestern and southern states, was the major part of the early ESO operations.

State Supervisor/Directors headed ESO operations from 1954 to 1967. The Eastern States Land Office Manager was in charge of the Eastern States Office from 1967 until 1972, when the State Director position was reestablished.

Originally located in the District of Columbia, the Eastern States Office headquarters was moved to Silver Springs, Maryland in 1963, and in about 1973, to Alexandria, Virginia. It is now located in Springfield, Virginia.

Idaho District Office - Field Office Organization

The Field Offices in Idaho have their origins in the District Grazing Offices that were opened by the Grazing Service in about 1938. These Grazing Districts were:

District No. 1, the Owyhee District, with office in Boise.

District No. 2, the Twin Falls District, with office in Burley.

District No. 3, the Lostriver District, with office in Pocatello, later moved to Idaho Falls.

District No. 4, the Lemhi District, with office in Salmon.

District No. 5, the Woodriver District, with office in Shoshone.

In 1946, these offices became the BLM Boise, Burley, Idaho Falls, Salmon and Shoshone District Offices. Beginning in about 1947, the BLM initiated a timber sale program in northern Idaho from offices that were first located in Spokane, Washington and later in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. The Coeur d'Alene office was established as the Coeur d'Alene District Office in 1962.

In 1955, Burley District Manager William L. Mathews initiated the concept of subdividing the District into three Areas, later called Resource Areas, each managed by an Area Manager reporting to the District Manager. In 1957, four Area Offices were also established in the Boise District. By 1962, Area Offices were established in the Shoshone, Idaho Falls and Salmon Districts. In 1965, the BLM officially adopted the Resource Area Office concept and began to implement it in the other States. The District Office/Resource Area Office organization operated for 40 years in Idaho.

In a 1996 reorganization, the District Offices were reorganized into three new Districts: the Boise District was renamed the Lower Snake River District; the Idaho Falls, Burley and Shoshone Districts were combined and renamed the Upper Snake River Districts; and the Coeur d'Alene and Salmon Districts were combined and renamed the Upper Columbia - Salmon Clearwater Districts. Most of the Resource Areas remained in operation until 1998, when they were redesignated as Field Offices reporting to the District Offices.

LOWER SNAKE RIVER DISTRICT Boise, Idaho

The Lower Snake River District is the former Boise District Office.

BOISE OFFICE

Boise was the location of the Grazing Services Region 5 Office that was established in 1936, to administer grazing in Idaho. That office moved to Pocatello in 1939, and returned to Boise in 1942. Meanwhile, a Grazing Service District Office was created in Boise to administer Idaho Grazing District No. 1, the Owhyee Grazing District. That Office became a BLM District Office in 1946.

Four Resource Area Offices were created in the Boise District in 1957: the Cascade RA, the Owhyee RA, the Bruneau RA and the Jarbidge RA.

The Boise District operated for 50 years until 1996, when it was renamed the Lower Snake River District. In 1998, the Resource Area Offices became Field Offices reporting to the District Office.

This Area Office concept, later called Resource Area Office, was extended to the other Idaho Districts, and in 1965, it was officially adopted by the BLM for implementation in the other States.

The first three Area Offices established in 1955 in the Burley District were the Magic, Raft River and Malad Areas. In 1960, a fourth Resource Area, the Soda Springs Resource Area, was established in the Burley District, however, in 1972, the Soda Springs RA was reassigned to the Idaho Falls District.

In 1982, the Magic and the Raft River Resource Areas were combined and renamed the Snake River Resource Area. In 1984, the Malad Resource Area Office was moved to Malad City, but the Office continued to report to the Burley District Office.

SALMON OFFICE

The Salmon office was originally established in about 1940, as a Grazing Service District Office to administer Idaho Grazing District No. 4, the Lemhi Grazing District. In 1946, it became a BLM District Office.

In 1958, two Areas, later called Resource Areas, were established in the Salmon District: the Lemhi Area and Challis-Pahsimeroi Area. In 1967, the Challis - Pahsimeroi Area was divided into the Challis - Mackey Area and the Pahsimeroi Area. In 1985, the Salmon District was realigned into two Resource Areas, the Lemhi and the Challis Resource Areas.

In 1996, the Salmon District was combined with the Coeur d'Alene District to form the Upper Columbia - Salmon Clearwater District with District headquarters in Coeur d'Alene. The Coeur d'Alene District Manager supervised both the Coeur d'Alene and the Salmon District Offices. The Lemhi and Challis Resource Area Offices remained in operation in the Salmon Office.

In 1998, the Salmon District Office was eliminated. The Lemhi and Challis Resource Area Offices were redesignated as the Lemhi Field Office and the Challis Field Office, both located in Salmon and reporting to the Upper Columbia - Salmon Clearwater District Office in Coeur d'Alene. A Challis Field Station has been established in Challis, and reports to the Challis Field Office in Salmon.

Montana - North Dakota- South Dakota Field Office Organization

The Montana State Office is also been responsible for management of the public lands in the States of Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, and, for a short time during the late 1960's and early 1970's, for the public lands on unsurveyed islands in the lakes of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

During the early days of the BLM, the public lands in North and South Dakota were administered out of the Miles City District Office, but offices were established in Dickinson, North Dakota in 1976, and in Belle Fourche, South Dakota in 1968.

The Montana State Office was also responsible for administering the Lake States unsurveyed islands program through offices in St. Paul and Duluth, Minnesota from 1960, until this program was turned over to the Eastern States Office in 1973.

The Montana - North Dakota - South Dakota Field Offices were created in 1998 out of the long time District and Resource Area Office organization that had been in operation for most of the life of the BLM.

The Montana District Offices had their origins as Grazing Service District Offices that became BLM District Offices in 1946. Six Grazing Districts had been established in the late 1930's.

District No. 1, the Malta District, with office in Malta became the BLM Malta District.

District No. 2, the Musselshell (later the Big Dry) District, with office in Miles City was later included in the BLM Miles City District.

District No 3, the Mizpah (later the Powder River) District), with office in Miles City was later included in the BLM Miles City District.

District No. 4, the Bridger District, with office in Billings later was administered by BLM out of Worland, Wyoming, then Lewistown, then Bridger, and then returned to Billings in 1961.

District No. 5, the Butte District, with office in Whitehall later became part of the BLM Butte District.

District No. 6, the Roundup District, with office in Lewistown later became part of the BLM Lewistown District.

Over the years, there have been a number of reorganizations, consolidations, and redesignations of the BLM District Offices in Montana, and also in the Resource Area Offices that were created within the Districts in the mid-1960's.

1946 - 1961

In 1946, the BLM had five Grazing District Offices in Billings, Whitehall, Lewistown, Malta, and Miles City that had their origins in Grazing Service District

Offices. During the following 15 years, several changes occurred in Montana District organization:

- The Billings District's range management responsibilities were first reassigned in 1948 to the Worland District Office in Wyoming; later in 1958, to a Bridger District Office that was established in Bridger, Montana; and finally, in 1961, back to a new Billings District Office.
- The Whitehall District Office was relocated in 1955 to become the Dillon District Office.
- A new District Office was established in Missoula in 1957.

1961 - 1975

From 1961 to 1975, there were six District Offices in Montana: Billings, Dillon, Malta, Lewistown, Missoula and Miles City. Two or three Resource Areas were created in each District in about 1965. By 1975, a North Dakota Project Office had also been established in Dickinson, North Dakota. From 1960 to 1973, Offices in St Paul and Duluth, Minnesota also reported to the Montana State Director.

1976 - 1998

In a 1976 reorganization, the number of District Offices was reduced to four: Butte, Lewistown, and Miles City in Montana, and Dickinson in North Dakota. The Dillon and Missoula Districts were merged to become a new District with headquarters at Butte. The Malta District and the Billings District were merged into the Lewistown District. The Dillon, Missoula, Malta and Billings Offices remained open as Resource Area Offices. The Dickinson District was established to administer the public lands in North Dakota.

In 1983, Resource Area Offices were opened in Havre, Glasgow and Great Falls, and the Billings Resource Area Office was reassigned from the Lewistown District to the Miles City District.

1998 -

In 1998, the two tiered District/Resource Area organization was abolished. The District Offices and most of the the detached Resource Area Offices were redesignated as Field Offices, each reporting to the State Office. The Resource Area Offices in Havre and Glasgow were redesignated as Field Stations reporting to the Lewistown and Malta Field Offices, respectively. The Resource Area Offices that were co-located with the District Offices were eliminated.

BUTTE OFFICE

The Butte District was created in 1976 by the merger of the lands that had formerly been part of the Whitehall, Dillon and Missoula Districts. Three Resource Areas, the Headwaters, Dillon and Garnet RAs, were also created in the Butte District in 1976.

In 1998, the Butte District Office became the Butte Field Office. The Dillon and Garnet Resource Area Offices became the Dillon and Missoula Field Offices. The Headwaters Resource Area was eliminated.

Three Resource Areas, the Judith River RA, the Black Butte RA and the Roundup RA, were established in 1965 in the Lewistown District. In 1969, these three Resource Areas were realigned into two Resource Areas named the Judith River RA and the Musselshell RA.

In the 1976 reorganization:

- the Judith River and the Musselshell RAs were combined into the Judith RA:

- three Resource Areas were added from the Malta District which was abolished and merged into the Lewistown District - these three Resource Areas were the Phillips RA in Malta, the Valley RA in Glasgow, and the Havre RA in Havre, which had been the Glacier - Blaine RA in the old Malta District,
- and the Billings Resource Area was added from the Billings District which was merged into the Lewistown District.

In 1983, another Resource Area was added to the Lewistown District when the Great Falls Resource Area Office was established in Great Falls as the result of the BLM - MMS merger of on-shore minerals activities. At the same time, the Billings Resource Area was reassigned from the Lewistown District to the Miles City District to help balance the workload between the Montana District Offices.

BILLINGS OFFICE

Billings was the location of a Regional Office of the Grazing Service during the 1936 - 1946 period. Montana Grazing District No. 4, the Bridger Grazing District, was administered out of Billings until 1948, when the BLM assigned management of the Bridger Grazing District to the adjoining Worland District Office in Wyoming.

In 1954, administration of the Bridger Grazing District was transferred from Worland to Lewistown District Office, which maintained a small staff in Bridger at an office that was operated as a Sub-Office of the Lewistown District.

In 1958, a Bridger District Office was opened to administer the lands in the Bridger Grazing District. The Bridger District operated until 1961 when the District Office headquarters was relocated back to a new Billings District Office.

Two Resource Areas, the Apsuroka RA and the Yellowstone RA, were established in the Billings District in 1965.

The Billings District Office and its two Resource Areas were abolished in the 1976 reorganization and merged with the Lewistown District. The Billings Office continued to operate as the Billings Resource Area Office reporting to the Lewistown District Office.

In 1983, when the Great Falls Resource Area Office was added to the Lewistown District, the Billings Resource Area Office was reassigned to the Miles City District to help balance the workload between the Districts in Montana.

In the 1998 reorganization, the Billings Resource Area Office was redesignated as the Billings Field Office reporting to the State Director.

Nevada Field Office Organization

The Elko, Ely, Las Vegas and Winnemucca Field offices have their origins as Grazing Service District Offices that became BLM District Offices when the BLM was created in 1946. The Grazing Service had established five Grazing Districts in Nevada in 1935 and 1936:

District No. 1, the Elko District, with office in Elko later became the BLM Elko District.

District No. 2, the Pyramid District, in the northwest corner of the State was administered out of Reno and later from Winnemucca.

District No. 3, the Virginia City District, with office in Minden later was incorporated into BLM's Carson City District.

District No. 4, the Ely District, with office in Ely later became the BLM Ely District.

District No. 5, the Searchlight District, with office in Las Vegas later became the BLM Las Vegas District.

The BLM's Carson City District Office was established shortly after the new agency was established in 1946. The BLM's Battle Mountain District Office was not established until 1951.

Resource Areas were created in each of the six BLM Districts in the mid-1960's, and these Resource Areas were reorganized and renamed several times in each District.

In 1996, the BLM in Nevada reorganized the District Office/Resource Area Office organization that had existed during most of the first 50 year history of the BLM. The District Offices were redesignated as Field Offices. Two detached Resource Area Offices, the Tonopah RA and the Caliente RA, were redesignated as Field Stations. The Resource Area Offices that were co-located with the District Offices were eliminated.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN OFFICE

The Battle Mountain District Office was established by BLM in 1951, to manage a large area of "Section 15" grazing lands in central Nevada. The Office was redesignated as the Battle Mountain Field Office in the 1996 reorganization.

New Mexico - Oklahoma Field Office Organization

The Grazing Service established seven Grazing Districts in New Mexico in the late 1930's.

District No. 1, the San Isidro District, had its office in Albuquerque, was later merged into District No. 2.

District No. 2, the Magdalena District, with office in Albuquerque and later Magdalena.

District No. 3, the Border District, with office in Deming that later became a BLM District Office.

District No. 4, the Tularosa District, with office in Alamogordo that later became a BLM District Office.

District No. 5, the Mesa District, that was later consolidated with District No. 4

District No. 6, the Pecos District with office in Roswell that later became the BLM's Roswell District Office.

District No 7, the Chaco District that was carved out of District No. 2 and administered out of Albuquerque, then, beginning in 1941, from Gallup, and finally by BLM from the Farmington District Office.

Beginning in 1946, the BLM continued to operate District Offices at Albuquerque, Magdalena, Roswell, Alamogordo and Deming, and established a new District Office in Farmington. In about 1950, the Magdalena District Office was moved to Socorro. In 1953, the Alamogordo and Deming Districts were consolidated and the District headquarters was relocated to Las Cruces.

In the mid-1960's, Resource Area Offices were created in each District, and the Farmington District Office was redesignated as a Resource Area Office reporting to the Albuquerque District Office.

In 1983, the Socorro District Office was redesignated as the Socorro Resource Area Office reporting to the Las Cruces District Office.

In 1983, a new BLM District Office, the Tulsa District Office was opened in Tulsa, Oklahoma as a result of the BLM - Minerals Management Service (MMS) merger.

In 1991, the Farmington Resource Area Office was redesignated as the Farmington District Office.

In a 1998 reorganization, the District Office - Resource Area Office organization was abolished. The District Offices and the detached Resource Area Offices were redesignated as Field Offices, and the Resource Area Offices that were co-located with the District Offices were eliminated.

Albuquerque was the location of the Grazing Service's Region 7 Office that was established in 1935 to administer grazing in New Mexico and Arizona. New Mexico Grazing Districts No. 1, No. 2 and No. 7, the San Isidro, Magdalena and Chaco Grazing Districts were also administered out of the Albuquerque Office during the early days of the Grazing Service. Administration of Grazing District No. 7 was moved to Gallup in 1941, and an Albuquerque Grazing District Office administered Grazing Districts No. 1 and No. 2.

In 1946, the Grazing Service's Regional Office became a BLM Regional Office, and the Grazing District Office became the BLM's Albuquerque District Office.

The Rio Puerco and Rio Grande Resource Area Offices were established in the Albuquerque District in the 1960's. The Rio Grande Resource Area Office was moved to Taos in 1978, and renamed the Taos Resource Area.

In the 1998 reorganization, the Rio Puerco Resource Area Office was merged into the Albuquerque District Office to become the Albuquerque Field Office. The Taos Resource Area Office was redesignated as the Taos Field Office reporting to the New Mexico State Office.

Oregon District Office Organization

The BLM's "Grazing Districts" in eastern Oregon have their origins in the seven Grazing Districts that the Grazing Service established in 1935 - 1936 in central and eastern Oregon. Originally, these Grazing Districts were administered out of the Grazing Service's Regional Office in Burns, but, by 1938, the Grazing Service had also established local District Offices in Lakeview, Vale, Jordan Valley, Prineville and Baker. These Grazing Districts were:

District No. 1, the Bonanza District, with office at Lakeview.

District No. 2, the Basin District, with office at Burns.

District No. 3, the Vale District, with office at Vale.

District No. 4, the Jordan District with office at Jordan Valley, that in 1946 was combined into the Vale District.

District No. 5, the Crooked Valley District, with office at Prineville.

District No. 6, the Baker District, with office at Baker.

District No. 7, the Echo District, a small District in north central Oregon.

The BLM has continued to operate District Offices at Lakeview, Burns, Prineville and Vale. The Baker District continued to operate until 1981 when it was consolidated into the Vale District. The Baker office remained open as a Resource Area Office reporting to the Vale District Office.

The BLM's "Forestry Districts" on the timbered lands in western Oregon have their origins in the O&C Administration's District Offices that were established in late 1930's and early 1940's in Salem, Roseburg, Medford, Eugene and Coos Bay. Each of these offices have continued to operate as BLM District Offices. The BLM established another District Forestry Office at Bend which operated from 1948 to 1956.

Beginning in about 1950, the western Oregon Forestry Districts were divided into two or more Timber Management Units which were headed by Unit Foresters. After the BLM began establishing Resource Areas in the Districts in the mid-1960's, these Timber Management Units in the Oregon Districts became Resource Areas headed by Resource Area Managers.

The Resource Areas in most of the Oregon Districts have been reorganized and renamed several times.

Since 1961, the BLM's Oregon State Office has also been responsible for the administration of the Spokane District Office which manages the remaining public lands in the eastern part of the State of Washington.

BURNS OFFICE

Burns was the location of the Grazing Services's Region 4 Office that was established in 1936. In 1938, a Grazing Service Grazing District Office was also created in Burns to administer Oregon Grazing District No. 2, the Basin Grazing District. It became a BLM District Office in 1946.

SQUAW BUTTE EXPERIMENT STATION

The Squaw Butte Experiment Station near Burns, Oregon was established in 1935 by Grazing Service Regional Grazier Marvin Klemme and others to undertake rangeland/animal husbandry, et. al. research on a practical basis for aiding in management of grazing lands. The Station was under management of the Grazing Service from 1935 until 1946, then managed for a three month period in 1946 by the U. S. Forest Service and Oregon State University until the new BLM could establish its management of the Station.

The BLM managed the Station until 1956 when it was transferred to the Department of Agriculture's Agriculture Research Service. W. Arthur Sawyer, the Superintendent at the time of the transfer, continued to manage the Station until 1969.

The Station still operates although its name has been changed to Northern Great Basin Experimental Range. Management is a cooperative venture under Oregon State University's Eastern Oregon Agricultural Research Center with staffing and funding by OSU and the federal Agricultural Research Service.

Utah District and Field Office Organization

The BLM office organization in Utah is in transition from the three tiered State Office - District Office - Resource Area Office organization that has been in place since 1965, to a two tiered State Office - Field Office organization that became effective October 1, 1998, for most of the Utah Offices.

The one exception is in the Cedar City District where the Cedar City District Office, the Dixie, Escalante and Kanab Resource Area Offices, and the Grand Staircase - Escalante National Monument Office will remain in place until a decision is made on how these offices will be reorganized.

The Salt Lake, Fillmore, Cedar City, Price, Richfield and Vernal Field Offices have their origins in the District Offices that the Grazing Service established in Utah in the late 1930's and early 1940's. These Grazing Service Districts were:

- District No. 1, the Promontory District, with office in Brigham City.
- District No. 2, the Bonneville District, with office in Salt Lake City.
- District No. 3, the Pahvant District, with office in Fillmore.
- District No. 4, the Virgin District, with office in Cedar City.
- District No. 5, the Escalante District with office in Richfield.
- District No. 6, the Monticello District with office in Moab.
- District No. 7, the San Rafael District with office in Price.
- District No. 8, the Duchesne District, with office in Vernal.
- District No. 9, the Grand District with office in Moab.
- District No. 10, the Nebo District with office in Nephi.
- District No. 11, the Vermillion District with office in Kanab.

After the BLM was created in 1946, these offices continued to operate as BLM District Grazing Offices. BLM opened an additional District Office in Monticello in about 1948, and closed the Nephi District Office in 1950, and the Brigham City and Murray District Offices in 1965.

In the mid-1960's, the BLM opened several Resource Area Offices in each District. During the following 30 years, these Resource Areas were reorganized and renamed several times in most of the Districts.

In 1975, the Monticello, Price, Kanab, and Fillmore Districts were merged into other Districts, but the offices in these locations remained open as Resource Area Offices.

In the 1998 reorganization, the District Office/Resource Area Office organization was eliminated, with the exception of the pending Cedar City situation. The District Offices were redesignated as Field Offices; the Resource Area Offices that were co-located with District Offices were abolished; and the detached Resource Area Offices were elevated to Field Office status.

CEDAR CITY OFFICES

The Cedar City office was originally established as a Grazing Service District Office to administer Utah Grazing District No. 4, the Virgin Grazing District. The Cedar City Office continued as a BLM District Office after 1946. Two Resource Areas, the Cedar RA, and the Dixie RA, were created in the Cedar City District in 1965. In 1975, the Cedar RA was renamed the Beaver River RA.

In 1974, when the Kanab District was merged into the Cedar City District, two additional Resource Areas, the Kanab RA and the Escalante RA, were added to the Cedar City District.

Wyoming Field Office Organization

The Rawlins, Rock Springs, Lander, Pinedale, and Worland Field Offices have their origins in the District Grazing Offices that the Grazing Service established in Wyoming in the 1930's. Five Grazing Districts were established in Wyoming, with District No. 1, the Worland District, being the first Grazing District to be established in the West by the Grazing Service.

District No. 1, the Tensleep District, with office in Basin, later moved to Worland.

District No. 2, the Windriver District, with office in Lander.

District No. 3, the Divide District, with office in Rawlins.

District No. 4, the Greenriver District, with office in Green River, later moved to Rock Springs in 1942.

District No. 5, the Sublette District, with office in Pinedale.

These offices became the BLM's Worland, Lander, Rawlins, Rock Springs and Pinedale District Offices after that new agency was created in 1946.

In 1957, BLM established a new Casper District Office to manage a large area of Section 15 grazing lands in eastern Wyoming that had been part of the Lander District.

Resource Area Offices were established in each of these six Districts in the mid-1960's.

In a 1974 reorganization, the Pinedale and Lander District Offices and their Resource Area Offices were eliminated. The BLM offices in Pinedale and Lander remained open as the Pinedale and Lander Resource Area Offices, reporting to the Rock Springs and Rawlins District Offices.

In a 1998 reorganization, the two-tiered District Office - Resource Area Office organization was eliminated. The Casper, Rawlins, Rock Springs and Worland District Offices and the Buffalo, Newcastle, Kemmerer, Pinedale, Lander and Cody Resource Area Offices were each redesignated as Field Offices. The Resource Area Offices that had been co-located with the Casper, Rawlins, Rock Springs and Worland District Offices were eliminated.

CASPER OFFICE

Unlike the other Wyoming Districts that had been originally established in the 1930's as Grazing Service Districts, the Casper District Office was created in 1957 to manage Section 15 leased lands in eastern Wyoming that were formerly administered from the Lander District Office. The Casper District Office became the Casper Field Office in 1998.

In the 1998 reorganization, the Cody Resource Area Office was redesignated as the Cody Field Office reporting to the BLM's Wyoming State Office.

Other Land Offices operated for shorter periods of time in Lander (1890 - 1927), Sundance (1890 - 1920), Douglas (1890 - 1924), and Newcastle (1920 - 1924).

BLM SPECIAL OFFICES

SERVICE CENTERS

In 1963, after the BLM's AREA Office organization had been replaced by State Offices in each state, the BLM established two Service Centers, in Denver and Portland, to provide administrative and certain technical services to the State Office organization.

The Denver Service Center served BLM offices in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona. The Portland Service Center served the BLM offices in Alaska, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, California and Nevada.

In 1973, the Portland Service Center was abolished and consolidated into the Denver Service Center.

By 1979, range management and other resource courses had been added to the curriculum; it had been renamed the Phoenix Training Center; and it had become a separate entity, no longer part of the Phoenix District Office. In 1994, the Phoenix Training Center was redesignated as the BLM's National Training Center reporting to the Washington Office of the BLM.

NATIONAL INTERAGENCY FIRE CENTER Boise, Idaho

The National Interagency Fire Center (NIFC) originated as the BLM's Great Basin Fire Center which was established in 1965 in Boise, Idaho. Its purpose was to provide coordination and support for wildfire suppression on the BLM administered public lands.

This mission was soon expanded to include all of the public lands. The Forest Service joined BLM at the Center in 1969, and it was renamed the Boise Interagency Fire Center (BIFC). The National Park Service, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service were added to the BIFC partnership during the 1970's.

In 1992, the Center was renamed the National Interagency Fire Center (NIFC).

OUTER CONTINENTAL SHELF (OCS) OFFICES

The first BLM Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) Offices was set up in New Orleans in 1954 to administer the Department of the Interior's oil and gas leasing programs off shore in the Gulf of Mexico. In 1972, additional OCS Offices were established in Los Angeles, New York City, and Anchorage, Alaska to administer off shore oil and gas leasing along the Pacific and Atlantic Coasts.

In a 1982 reorganization, the Secretary of the Interior combined the off shore oil and gas leasing responsibilities of the BLM with the off shore mineral management responsibilities of the U. S. Geological Survey to form a new Interior agency, the Minerals Management Service. At that time the BLM's four OCS Offices were reassigned to the Minerals Management Service.

MISSOURI RIVER BASIN LAND CLASSIFICATION PROJECT

Project Manager

Robert D. Nielson	1948 - 1954
-------------------	-------------

The Missouri River Basin Land Classification Project was a feature of the Pick-Sloan Plan for development and control of the water resources of the Missouri River. Most of the Department of the Interior agencies participated in the project. The Bureau of Land Management's role was to determine the physical characteristics and use suitability of the 23 million acres of public land in the Missouri River Basin under its administration.

The BLM's portion of the project was administered out of BLM's Billings, Montana Regional Office. Over 80 BLM employees worked on the project which was completed in 1954.

The project provided basic resource data for management and disposition of the public lands, and also valuable training for many employees who later became leaders in the BLM. A more detailed description of the project and a listing of the employees who participated in the project is included as Appendix 2 to this report.

Appendix 1

LAND OFFICES OF THE UNITED STATES

In determining how to dispose of the lands ceded to the United States by the original 13 States, Congress finally settled on a method of surveying land in 6 mile square Townships, each of which was then divided into 36 1-mile square lots of 640 acres. (Ordinance of 5/20/1785 on the Method of Disposal of the Lands of the Western Territories.)

These lots were then distributed by lot or otherwise for the War Department (used to pay the soldiers and sailors), some reserved for the United States, some for schools, and the remainder distributed among the 13 States for sale by the State's "loan-officers" who would also issue the deed from the United States to the purchaser.

In 1788, the distribution to the 13 States was stopped and all sales were handled by the "board of treasury," now the Department of Treasury.

The first "Land Offices" were established by the Congress at the end of the 18th Century in connection with the disposal of lands in the Northwest Territory (that area North and West of the Ohio River). Under the act of May 10, 1800, Land Offices were established at Cincinnati, Chillicothe, Marietta and Steubenville. Each office was headed by an individual with the title "The Register of the Land Office;" to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Besides running the Land Office, the Register was responsible for maintain the "books" on the surveyed lands, entering the applications, cash entries, etc., made for the various parcels of land, issuing receipts, etc. These were the "land office records" of the day - Plats of survey of the township and ranges of public lands and the bound "Tract Books" in which the entries, applications, purchases, etc., were entered in chronological order with no blank lines.

To allow for payment other than to the Treasurer of the United States, the President, with advice and consent from the Senate, could appoint "receivers of public monies." While there was no requirement that a "receiver" be appointed for each Land Office, it soon became the practice that when a new Land Office was opened the President appointed both a Register and a Receiver.

With the Public Lands under some form of supervision by three Departments (State, Treasury & War) and over 25 Land Offices in operation, the Congress established the General Land-Office, or GLO, in 1812. Within the Department of the Treasury, The GLO was to perform all such acts and things touching or respecting the Public Lands of the United States that were previously performed by the three Departments.

The GLO became part of the Department of the Interior, established in 1849. In 1946, the GLO and the Grazing Service were combined to form the Bureau of Land Management, or BLM.

I am not sure, but I believe that the "Register" and "Receiver" titles were dropped and "Land Office Manager" adopted with the merger into the BLM in 1946.

After one hundred and seventy years and over 400 locations, the Land Office began to lose its individuality in the 1970's and by the 1980's the title was no longer among the "living."

This listing is a work in progress which, to date, has been developed through abstracting data from Acts of Congress and the Annual Reports of the General Land Office, the Bureau of Land Management, and the Department of the Interior. Some personal experience is involved, having managed both the Cheyenne and Anchorage Land Offices.

The LAND DISTRICTS created by Congress are shown for the State of location. These were generally created when Congress opened them for pre-emption or settlement or after it had extinguished Indian title to the land. Within each DISTRICT, one or more LAND OFFICES were established, some specifically identified by Congress, others left to the discretion of the President.

The list "TOWN" is where the LAND OFFICE was located and was usually called the "(Town) Land Office." Where I have been able to positively link the Land Office and the Land District, the Towns are listed below the District listing. In () following a Town I show to what other office the records of that LAND OFFICE were transferred when it closed (if known).

The last three columns identify when the LAND OFFICE was 1) authorized by Congress, or Administratively in more recent years, 2) when the Office opened for business, and 3) when the Office was closed.

Dates are shown YYYYMMDD if known.

Only the year is shown where the information is insufficient to identify actual month or day.

A ? to the left of a year (?1866) means that year is the earliest found but the actual date may be earlier.

A ? to the right of a year (1866?) means that year is the latest found but the actual date may be later.

MISSOURI RIVER BASIN LAND CLASSIFICATION PROJECT 1948 - 1954

In the late 1940's after World War II, the United States Congress authorized the implementation of the "Pick-Sloan Plan" for the control and management of the waters of the Missouri River Basin in the interest of flood control and agricultural development through irrigation. Several large dams and impoundments were planned on the main stream and its primary tributaries. The entire drainage basin had been studied by the Army Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation, but there were other agencies involved. Those included the U. S. Geological Survey, National Park Service, Bureau of Mines, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Land Management in the Department of the Interior. There was a need for coordination and interaction by the several agencies.

After a joint meeting of agency representatives at Omaha in about 1947, the Secretary of the Interior ordered that a field committee be organized to meet regularly, to plan and coordinate jointly, and resolve problems amicably to achieve a comprehensive public land and water and watershed and related resource conservation and development program. A budget was approved and funds were allocated to each agency based on its proposed and approved contribution to the base plan.

The BLM received funding for the inventory and classification of the 23 million acres of public lands under its administration. BLM was also allocated funds to conduct cadastral surveys as needed. The inventory and classification included vegetative cover and characteristics, soil conditions, topography and slope, accessibility, and other data necessary to determine the use suitability and management requirements of the public lands.

The job was organized by the Billings Regional Office of the BLM with Robert D. Nielson in charge. The program was carried out on a drainage basis as related to the principal Bureau of Reclamation water impoundment projects.

The BLM needed soil scientists, range conservationists, foresters, land economists and planners, real estate appraisers, draftsmen, report writers and editors, and secretaries. Many were recruited from existing BLM staff, but some came from other agencies and from graduating classes from universities. The total staff throughout the six-year program included over eighty employees. About fifty people were in the initial crew.

The program proceeded on a watershed basis in order of the priority and schedule of projects of the Bureau of Reclamation. Coordination of the work was accomplished by the Field Committee which met at least once per month to review the program and progress, and to resolve problems. There were thirty-five watershed based land classification reports published which included maps showing the land ownership categories (private, state, federal, etc.), the physical characteristics of the public lands (vegetation, soils, etc.), and its use suitability - farming, grazing, watershed, wildlife, forestry, recreation - as a combination of multiple uses or otherwise.

The classification data provided for improved management of grazing and forestry uses, and general resource conservation for sustained use. It identified tracts, "pot hole" lands, passed over by homesteaders which had special value for water fowl, particularly in North Dakota. It identified isolated tracts, particularly in Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, that were unsuitable for any public use and could best serve in private ownership.

The land classification project was completed in 1954 by a staff headquartered at the BLM's Denver Regional Office. The information in the classification reports resulted in the following achievements:

1. Public sale of many isolated tracts, particularly in South Dakota. Sales were held at the county seat in the county in which the lands were situated.
2. The exchange of several thousand acres of state owned lands in Glacier National Park for public lands of equal value that were best suited for state ownership and management in conjunction with other state lands. The appraised value of the state lands and timber exceeded seven million dollars.
3. Accelerated conservation programs and management of critical watershed lands (check dams, water spreading, reseeding, rotation grazing).
4. Transfer to BLM of Land Use Lands, "L. U. Lands", in Montana that had been managed by the Forest Service.

The Missouri River Basin Classification Program of the BLM made a difference. It provided much valuable resource data that facilitated greater professionalism in the management of the public lands. It also launched and provided valuable training for many BLM employees, some of whom became State Directors, and one who became the Director of the BLM.

Copies of each report that was published were filed in the Library of Congress at its request.
